Students may need to turn the Moon pictures in different directions in order for them to look like the real Moon in the sky.