

Sharing Our Stories An Asset-Based Approach to Student Healing and Recovery

4 March 2023
8:30am - 4:30pm

105 National Ave. N.,
Bremerton, WA 98312

$77
Cost includes lunch and the book Street Data

In a time of healing and recovery, we are our greatest resource. Storytelling is a powerful way to promote inclusion, facilitate dialogues, and engage student voice and action. Join us for a day of learning with keynote speaker Luis Ortega, Founder and Director of Storytellers for Change.

Afternoon workshops will provide opportunities to dive deeper into theories and strategies that uplift student identity and voice, foster healing and belonging, and thrive in the school environment. Click here to view breakout session descriptions.

Throughout the event, participants can boost their knowledge base when it comes to creating and nurturing asset-based learning environments and pedagogy. Get ready to:

- Learn the language of asset-based framing
- Explore concepts of hope, healing, and recovery
- Build skills and strategies to integrate social emotion learning, trauma-informed practices into academic content

Scan the QR Code or visit bit.ly/student-healing
to learn more and register

For questions about the PD learning day, contact Lyndsey Kellum at lkellum@oesd114.org.
For support with PdEnroller, contact Heather Archut at harchut@oesd114.org or 360.405.5801

